LADY JACOBVITS WOWS " THE ARCHERS " INAUGURAL PURIM PARTY

" The Archers " , Marble Arch's newly formed social networking group was graced with the presence of Lady J as its Guest of Honour for its inaugural event: a Purim Party . Held in the Bloomstein Hall around eighty people attended this hugely successful and enjoyable function which included a group brought from Nightingale House with their volunteers, thanks to the kind help of our own Beverly Miller. Lady J spoke with great emotion , laced with much humour , calling on recollections of her own family experiences at Purim . Entertainment was provided by the Claudio Ellodei trio which gave a great party atmosphere to this lively event . Further entertainment was provided by our own Rabbi who came dressed as Julius Caesar or was it Mark Anthony ? Either way he did say "He had come to praise us not to bury us " and gave a great rendition of Hava Nagila once he had found his voice towards the end . A further guest was the Deputy Israeli Ambassador , Talya Lador Fresher, who most eruditely and thought provokingly gave an amusing 'play' on Purim in the present day likening the key biblical characters to real life characters in the public eye . I am pleased to say that our own Prime Minister was not included although one can only speculate just who he might have been !!As the congregations of both Central and New West End synagogues had been invited we were pleased to see Rabbi Geoffrey Shisler of the New West End who popped in ,with Rabbi Marcus of Central being unavailable to attend . We are intending to both invite and involve these communities in all future activities .

Building on the undoubted success of this our first function we have already compiled a programme of future events covering a multitude of interests and activities through to the end of the year . These range from guest speakers, to visits to historical sites of Jewish and cultural interest to theatre and concerts . Whilst the programme was available at the Purim Party we have asked future members and participants to let us know what their interests are to enable us to plan future events aligned to these interests. Several of our women members have expressed the view , incorrectly by the way , that their men folk believe that this is merely a forum for " women chatter ". Just to prove this concept wrong our first guest speaker, in April ,will be Kia Joorabchian , the well known Football Agent associated with " The Carlos Tevez Affair " and almost owner of West Ham United football club who will be talking on " Football Today "

The Archers is desperately in need of volunteers to assist with the administration and organising of it's activities so please contact us if you can help in any way .

Unlike the long- running radio programme of a similar name "The Archers" is much more than for "simple country folk" ; it is a vibrant and vital group serving a particular segment of the Community, with an exciting future just as long as the radio programme !!
